ABOUT

Green Gem Consultancy is an advisory firm specialized in environment, sustainability, quality management and capacity building. The company supports government agencies, international organizations, businesses and civil society organizations in developing, implementing and improving systems, projects and policies that contribute to sustainable development, environmental protection and responsible entrepreneurship. Green Gem Consultancy's core activities include:
1. Environmental and sustainability advice. Advice and support in the development and implementation of environmental policy, sustainability strategies and sustainable business processes.
2. Environmental and social studies. Conducting environmental and social studies, impact assessments and stakeholder consultations to support sustainable decision-making.
3. Environmental management systems and quality improvement. Development, implementation and improvement of environmental management systems, including ISO 14001, and related quality processes.
4. Waste management and hazardous substances. Advice, planning and capacity building in the field of waste management, hazardous substances and safe waste disposal.
5. Environmental monitoring and compliance. Development of monitoring programs and support with compliance with environmental legislation, permit requirements and reporting obligations.
6. Project management, training and stakeholder engagement. Coordination of projects, delivery of training and guidance of stakeholder processes for effective implementation of environmental and sustainability initiatives.
Green Gem Consultancy combines technical expertise with practical feasibility. The organization has experience with projects in the fields of environmental management, ISO 14001 implementation, environmental monitoring, (hazardous) waste management, institutional strengthening, capacity building and policy development. It collaborates with national organizations, businesses and international development and environmental organizations.
